WHO ARE WE?

NUTV explores media arts through learning, creativity and fun, capturing stories for the campus community. Learn ↔ Create ↔ Share!

OUR STORY

In 1983 we started as a club and operated out of a small space in the basement of the MacEwan Student Centre. We have now grown into a full-fledged non-profit organization. As our organization grew we moved into our fully equipped studio! We are one of the oldest university television stations, older than most students entering their first year at the U of C!

Over the years many of our members have become notable alumni. Some have gone on to be succesful filmmakers from Michael Dowse of Fubar and Goon fame, to Gary Burns' iconic waydowntown, and Jeremy Thomas' recent work, Ally Was Screaming. Are you next?

LEARNING

WORKSHOPS

NUTV offers a variety of training ranging from technical to communications skills. Learn everything you need to know to help bring a story to life on video. The skills we arm our members with are practical, experiential and transferable.

Some of the training workshops we offer are:

- Camera operation
- Sound recording
- Lighting
- Live studio production
- Editing
- Screenwriting

EVENTS

We hold various events that provide additional learning experiences such as:

- Talent Development Series - in-depth workshops with leading industry professionals.
- Networking Night - a chance to meet and network with members of the production community
- Festival opportunities - a 48-hour film challenge

OPPORTUNITIES

Looking for a job on campus? NUTV supports students by providing various work opportunities such as Co-op, honorarium and summer student positions. Gain meaningful work experience in a fun environment.

FRIENDS

Our lounge is a great place for you to hangout with like minded people in a warm and welcoming environment!

JOIN US

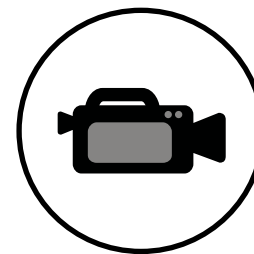

Yearly membership:

- $10.00 for students
- $15.00 for alumni
- $30.00 for community

This fee helps support activities that NUTV offers its members, such as workshops and training sessions and of course helps fill the beloved candy jar!
